Introduction

Where Opportunity Meets Talent

Research has proven that job-related talents are directly related to job satisfaction and personal performance. People are well positioned to achieve success when they are engaged in work suited to their inherent skills, behavioral style and unique values. Your TTI Talent Insights Talent Report can be compared with specific job requirements outlined in TTI Talent Insights Job Reports. When the talent required by the job is clearly defined and in turn matched to the individual, everyone wins!

The following is a highly-personalized portrait of your talent in two main sections:

Motivators Hierarchy (6 Areas)

This section identifies what motivates you. In order to be successful and energized on the job, it is important that your underlying values are satisfied through the nature of your work. When they are, you feel personally rewarded by your work.

Behavioral Hierarchy (12 Areas)

This section ranks the traits that most closely describe your natural behavior. When your job requires the use of your top behavioral traits, your potential for success increases, as do your levels of personal and professional satisfaction.

Motivators Feedback

This section expands on three areas that you value most. When your job emphasizes what you value, you will feel personally rewarded.

Behavioral Feedback

This section gives you insight into your top three behavioral traits to further identify your unique strengths.

Behaviors & Motivators Graphs

Motivators Hierarchy

Your drive to succeed in anything you do is determined by your underlying motivators. You will feel energized and successful at work when your job supports your personal motivators. They are listed below from the highest to the lowest.

1. Aesthetic - Rewards those who value balance in their lives, creative self-expression, beauty and nature.

63

2. Traditional/Regulatory - Rewards those who value traditions inherent in social structure, rules, regulations and principles.

57

3. Theoretical - Rewards those who value knowledge for knowledge's sake, continuing education and intellectual growth.

53

4. Individualistic/Political - Rewards those who value personal recognition, freedom, and control over their own destiny and others.

52

5. Social - Rewards those who value opportunities to be of service to others and contribute to the progress and well being of society.

40

6. Utilitarian/Economic - Rewards those who value practical accomplishments, results and rewards for their investments of time, resources and energy.

Motivators Feedback

Your motivation to succeed in anything you do is determined by your underlying values. You will feel energized and successful at work when your job supports your personal values. The following are your 3 highest ranked personal values:

1. Aesthetic

- You value balance in your life, creative self-expression, beauty and nature and protection of our natural resources.
- A higher Aesthetic score indicates a relative interest in "form and harmony." Each experience is judged from the standpoint of grace, symmetry or fitness. Life may be regarded as a procession of events, and each is enjoyed for its own sake. A high score here does not necessarily mean that the incumbent has talents in creative artistry. It indicates a primary interest in the artistic episodes of life.

2. Traditional/Regulatory

- You value traditions inherent in social structure, rules, regulations and principles.
- The highest interest for this motivator may be called "unity," "order," or "tradition." Individuals with high scores for this motivator seek a system for living. This system can be found in such things as conservatism or any authority that has defined rules, regulations and principles for living.

3. Theoretical

- You value knowledge, continuing education and intellectual growth.
- The primary drive with this motivator is the discovery of TRUTH. In pursuit of this drive, an individual takes a "cognitive" attitude. Such an individual is nonjudgmental regarding the beauty or utility of objects and seeks only to observe and to reason. Since the interests of the theoretical person are empirical, critical and rational, the person appears to be an intellectual. The chief aim in life is to order and systematize knowledge: knowledge for the sake of knowledge.

Behavioral Feedback

Your observable behavior and related emotions contribute to your success on the job. When matched to the job, they play a large role in enhancing your performance. The following are your 3 highest ranked behavioral traits:

1. Persistence

- You are focused on the task at hand and make sure it is complete despite challenges or resistance.

2. Organized Workplace

- Your strength lies in accurate record keeping and planning. Your successful performance depends on established systems and procedures and is tied to careful organization of activities, tasks, and projects.

3. Analysis

- You are able to analyze and challenge a large number of details, data, and facts prior to making decisions.

Behavioral Feedback

Alex looks to people for support and inner-satisfaction as a way to reach his personal goals. He is often seen as practical and objective. He is family-oriented. He may go to great lengths to ensure the "happiness" of his personal or work family. Patience, control, and deliberateness characterize his usual behavior. Alex likes to win through persistence. He uses his strong, steady tendencies to accomplish his goals. When the time is right, Alex can stand up aggressively for what he believes. He likes to set his own pace. When others try to rush him, he feels threatened and may balk. He can be discreet and sociable if the situations calls for it.
